Dear Dr. Sahib. I need some sermon from you to improve becoming a better Musalman. The issue is that although I do offer my prayers but not regularly. Surprisingly, I very conveniently offer my Fajar coz I am an early bird. I have started going to mosque for my Fajars as the mosque is very close to my home. Kindly guide me how to motivate my self for offering my prayers five times a day. I know it is compulsory with no concessions and pardon. I wait for your valuable advice and guidance while I pray to Allah for forgiving all my omissions.

Dear Dr, Azam, Assalam o Alai'kum. Jazak Allah May Allah swt Bless you for all the good work you are doing, Ameen. Masha'Allah spending so much time in the way of Allah swt will pay dividends.

Your initial email is very encouraging containing reference that materials are from a Mufti.

In this day and age when internet has provided a platform for anyone to take a stand and begin shouting Islam and use their gift of the gab to impress folks similar to what Herr Hitler, Mr. ZA Bhutto had which drove folks wild.

You being a doctor may understand the following good children attend school regularly and go to become professionals like you doctors, engineers, Mufti etc others play truant at school spend their time playing in the streets and grow up to be Mr. No one

Few of these Mr. No ones wish to spend their time rubbing shoulders with rich and famous to themselves become famous and find if they can place a book of dinyat in their armpit and shout Islam then use their gift of the gab to impress folks they can achieve their goal.

To further impress folks they would add (or their friends will add) few adjectives to their name such as "leader of the pack" "great thinker" "founder of such and such" etc in order to side track folks who would not dare ask them whether they actually physically attended any regular schools or maderessa and demonstrated enough love for Islam for example

1. carefully learned Arabic accent to pronounce words of Quran accurately
2. spent enough time to do Hifz e Quran

3. spent enough time and took tests after reading a number of Ahadith weak and strong
4. understood that there are reasons why certain ahadith are called weak or riwayat
5. understand that constant repetitions of weak ahadith in front of folks can derail their beliefs

There are thousands of variations of Ahadith, mostly weak, which has subdivided us into several sects and now green cap madanis have started a fresh sect almost, I have had first hand experience of going to few of their majalis and the way their speaker was addressed was actually distasteful so much so that I had to ask the crowd if the speaker was indeed a mufti and sadly I learnt most of them are neither mufti nor qari nor hafiz

They of course possess the gift of the gab

May Allah swt Bless them all and give us strength and knowledge to separate truth from unreal stories recited by these folks as ahadith. Ameen.

My dear Bro. Umar,
Assalamo alaikum

Thanks for attaching the files. One cannot make out whose English translations are these? About the English translation of the Qur'an you have mentioned that it is by the British Muslim Scholar Mr. Muhammad Marmaduke Pickthall. For this English translation I need not make any comment. It is one of the best.

When I will use any of these English translations of the Hadith, I will let you know my comments. I wish you can make available to readers English translation of Sahih al-Bukhari by Muhammad Asad.

With thanks and prayers

Yours sincerely

Nasir Ahmad

My dear Bro. Umar,
Assalamo alaikum

I have used the link very kindly sent by you. But it seems the English translation of Sahib al-Bukhari by Muhammad Asad is not available. Long ago when late Muhammad Asad was working in Hyderabad Deccan, he did complete four parts but then unfortunately he could not continue. I understand that after completing his Message of the Qur'an ( I have a copy with me) he completed the Sahih al-Bukhari as well. I will be grateful if you can also make a search for it. It must a very good translation.

With thanks and payers

Yours

UMAR AZAM <dr.u.azam@gmail.com>

Asalam Alaikum Dr,

Yes, I've got it, unfortunately it doesn't allow me to copy the AYAs from it and paste them in Java codes.

please if is possible find for me the one which is not coded, or you give it to me in MS Word, there it will be helpful.
